By the Associated Press.
RICHMOND, Va., June 24.—William Turner, Alexandria negro, convicted in the United States district court here of highway robbery and of murdering T. Morgan Moore, torpedo expert, more than a year ago, was hanged in the Henrico county jail yard here this morning. The trap was sprung at 6:19, and Turner was prosprung at 6:19, and Turner was pronounced dead twenty minutes later. He made no statement before going to the scaffold. More than 500 persons, mostly negroes, surrounded the jall just before the hanging.

The hanging was the first execution of the kind to take place in Virginia in thirteen years. Turner would have been electrocuted in the penitentiary had his conviction and sentence been in a state court.

Turner denied the highway robbery Turner denied the highway robbery charge, but admitted shooting Moore after the torpedo expert had fired at him, striking him in the right hand and thigh. Moore, who was riding in an automobile with his fiancee, Miss Pearl Clark, private secretary to Representative Britten of Illinois, was shot and wounded above the heart following a scuffle with the negro and died within a few minutes, the slayer being charged with dragging the young woman from the scene of the crime and stealing her jewelry.

Within a few hours after the crime Turner was captured by a posse about five miles from the scene of the murder, just as he was about to escape into the District of Columbia across the Potomac River bridge. He was taken to Leesburg, but a mob soon learned he was there and went in automobiles to that town. Sheriff Clement outwitted the alleged would be lynchers, however, and took the prisoner to Winchester. Turner was later brought to Richmond. The list of these men has been prepared and submitted to President Harding, but Gen. Dawes said today that it probably will not be announced until some time next month. It had not been expected that these men would be called to Washington for duty before August 1, but Gen. One of the first duties of the new director—and he considers it one of the very important duties in condirector—and he considers it one of the very important duties in connection with the perfection of the budget system—is to call in all of the department and bureau officials and enthuse them with the need of thorough co-operation with the new bureau. He will point out to them that to make the budget system effective they must be ever ready to bury jealousies, forget that they are just bureau chiefs dealing with one branch of the government and consider themselves more a part of the whole government system.

It appears certain that De Valera was arrested either in error or through overzeal on the part of the officials concerned.

The arrest, it is understood, took place at Black Rock, County Dublin. The prisoner was detained for the night and, his identity being learned, he was released yesterday atfernoon. It was supposed at first that a man resembling him had been arrested, and on this ground the Sinn Fein authorities denied the reports.

As a matter of fact, it is declared here, there is no intention on the part of the authorities in Ireland to arrest De Valera. This statement would appear to be borne out by the fact of his being released when his identity was established. A. R. Mackenzie Wins Qualifying Round-Columbia Team Ahead.
